A student may declare a formal minor consisting of at least nine credit hours for master's students or 15 credit hours for doctoral students. To count toward the minor, all credits must be for courses listed (or cross-listed) in one or more programs other than the student's major. In most cases, the minor should not include courses in more than two programs. The minor must be approved in advance by the director of graduate studies in both the major and minor programs.

In compliance with the above policy, and through completion of the courses indicated below, I am declaring a formal minor in: _____.
